WEB DESIGN

Alongside my academic and leadership experience, I design and develop websites for real users and businesses. These projects have given me practical experience in responsive design, user experience, branding, front-end development and solving real-world problems.

JF AUTODETAILING

Business Website • Client Project

jfautodetailing.co.uk

Designed and developed a professional website for a mobile car detailing business in Colchester, Essex. The project involved translating an existing brand into a complete online presence while keeping the site straightforward for customers to use on both desktop and mobile.

My work:

- Designed the full responsive website
- Refined the existing brand for web use
- Created service, reviews, coverage-area and contact pages
- Built mobile-friendly booking and contact flows
- Integrated phone, SMS and social-media contact options
- Improved navigation, typography and overall user experience

WORK EXPERIENCE

EARLS COLNE AIRFIELD

Aviation Work Experience

Gained practical experience in a working airfield environment, assisting with aircraft cleaning, refuelling and basic maintenance tasks while learning about aviation safety and day-to-day airfield operations. The experience gave me a better understanding of how aircraft are prepared, handled and maintained, while developing my responsibility, attention to detail and confidence working around aviation equipment.
